Sartre's statement consists of a brief summary of the evidence presented to the Tribunal, a review of the international treaties and accords which the Tribunal held relevant to its inquiry, a brief resume of the Tribunal's findings in respect to the questions it was considering, and a statement of the Tribunal's conclusions. The conclusions were as follows.

- 2) The US Government and armed forces are guilty of deliberate, systematic, and massive bombing of civilian targets [in Vietnam] and of repeatedly violating the sovereignty, neutrality, and territorial integrity of Cambodia.
- 3) The Governments of Australia, New Zealand, and South Korea are accomplices of the US in aggression against Vietnam.
